Gaudete! Rejoice! The 3rd Sunday of Advent is known as Gaudete Sunday, from the Latin word Gaudete, meaning rejoice, which begins the Introit for Sunday's Mass. This week the pink candle is lit in the Advent wreath.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Why do we need the Church with its teachings, liturgies and sacred scriptures? Why can't I just believe what I like and be a nice person? The reason is: context. Like a great drawing or painting, we all need context to frame our lives, to give us a firm sense of belonging, identity, purpose and direction. The Church has given us the liturgical year, with its various seasons and their themes, to give our lives context. Advent, and the coming of Christ, plays a key role in this.

Everyone is welcome. At each Mass a collection plate will be passed around to support the Cathedral.

Once there was an old custom in Europe and early America of hanging symbolic ornaments on a Christmas tree during Advent - ornaments which represented the Messianic prophecies - often with the prophecies included within the ornaments. For instance, a Lion of Judah ornament might represent one of the Davidic prophecies. This tree was gradually assembled during the days of Advent. It was called the Jesse Tree, named after the father of King David.
The Messiah was prophesied to be a descendant of David, which is the Tribe of Judah - the royal line of Israel.

HOW DO I SHARE MY FAITH ABOUT THE REAL MEANING OF CHRISTMAS?

Is there someone in the parish who will be alone on Christmas Day? Could you invite them to Christmas lunch?

Are you able to advertise Christmas Mass times at your workplace, or on the community billboard at your local shopping centre?

When you are doing your Christmas shopping, could you affirm the staff on the checkout? Let them know they are doing a brilliant job.

Will you be alone on Christmas day? If you are up to it, could you volunteer to help at a homeless shelter or nursing home? Bringing some Christmas cheer to other lonely people might bring joy to your own heart.

Are you carrying a hurt or grudge with a family member? Can you find a way to be reconciled? If this would be really tough, then pray through the season of Advent that God will help you find the right time and the right words to make your peace.

When was the last time you celebrated the sacrament of Reconciliation? If you are carrying a burden, then why not give it up to God in this beautiful sacrament? A heart that is at peace will no doubt be reflected in your actions.

Would you feel comfortable inviting to Christmas Mass someone you know who has stopped going to Mass (and maybe offer to pick them up)?

(Excerpt from 'The Bridge', a resource for Australian Catholics striving to share their faith.)

Please note regarding the Novena
On Saturday, 31st December (between Christmas and New Year), there will be no Saturday Mass/ Novena at the Cathedral.

New Christmas Tradition

REFLECTION

by Richard Leonard

Have you ever been on a farm during summer? If you have you will know how precious water is. When I was a boy, I spent several holidays on an uncle's property. There were often six or seven city-based cousins there for the long summer break. It was great fun, but the one thing of which we needed a daily reminder was to be careful with how much water we used. We seemed to luxuriate in the shower for twice as long as our country cousins!

I can remember that when we arrived for one holiday, it had not rained in the area for nearly nine months. A few days later, just at dusk, the thunder rumbled, the storm clouds gathered and the heavens burst open. The rain poured down. Like in the movies, everyone inside the house just stood up and walked out into the rain. No one said a word. We stood in the rain and soaked it in. The earth was not the only thing in need of a drenching.

In today's letter from St James the metaphor of waiting for rain is given to us as a way of understanding what it was like to wait for Christ. It is a potent image for Advent. In this season each year we remember that humanity waited through a long, dry and exhausting period for the sign of new life in Jesus. For generations people looked to the heavens every day for a sign that today would be the day when God's salvation would come. Then, one night, in a way no one could have ever imagined, with no fanfare, a child burst forth into the world and established the final reign of God's love.

Advent is not the time when we pretend that Jesus hasn't come into our world and that we are the first to anticipate his coming at Christmas. It's a richer season than that. It is the time when we recall what it was like before he came and how much we need him to keep coming again and again in our daily lives.

The First Reading and the Gospel make it very clear that farmers never down tools just because the rain comes. We're told that as a result of being soaked in the love of God we are called to do all we can for those in our world who are lame, blind, deaf, lepers, poor and for any one left for dead.

This is a vital message for us to hear today because there are some in our country who tell us that all we have to do is look after 'our own back yard'. This line is many things, but it's not Christian. Advent reminds us that by welcoming Christ we have an obligation to care for all his children. Everywhere is our back yard because that's where our brothers and sisters live.

May we gain from Christ this Christmas the generosity to see that the desert is meant to bloom for all people everywhere, not just a few of us lucky to live in an oasis.

We are ridiculously generous to others because God in Jesus has been lavishly good to us and our goodness remains a most powerful sign of God's salvation that is always seen in deeds not words.

HISTORICAL CONTEXT

Least and Greatest

Jesus declares that the least in the kingdom of heaven is greater even than John whom he has just finishing praising as greatest of all men. It is an indication that in the kingdom, things are not as they are on earth. The blind, lame, deaf, poor and lepers that Jesus named earlier would have been seen as the very lowest of society. Their afflictions were seen as punishments from God and so it was assumed that they, or their parents, had done something to deserve this punishment. Jesus rejects this interpretation and shows these people to be the most open to responding to his message.

NEW TESTAMENT COMMENTARY

by Mary Coloe PBVM

James 5:7-10; Matthew 11:2-11

'Are you the one ... or must we wait?'

This year I moved into a newly renovated house and so had the joy of trying to establish a garden, of growing vegetables, and watching some of the more mature fruit trees change with the seasons. At present I see the figs and the pears beginning to take their shapes, even though they are a long way from ripe. Not only am I watching, but the birds too are periodically 'testing' this fruit – 'Is it ready yet'. The reading from James uses similar agricultural images to speak of the expectation that God is coming to us. In the early church this expectation was the certain sense that Jesus was soon to return to them in glory. We have lost this sense of urgency, but perhaps each Christmas we can enter into something of this expectation. If you are in a family, you can see the growing excitement of children as the decorations are put up and the tree is assembled. As children feel the excitement about presents and celebrating Christmas, can we adults look deeper and share something of this excitement for GOD IS ALWAYS COMING. Of course to notice this we will need to take some time out from the busy-ness of our lives and just for five or ten minutes enter into stillness and discover there the One who is always coming to us. As James says, 'Do not lose heart, for the Lord's coming will be soon.' As soon as we can stop and welcome God.

John is now in prison and wonders about the things he hears of Jesus. John had proclaimed that the reign of God was close; now, he wonders, could it be possible that this miracle worker from Nazareth is the one Israel has been waiting for; could it be that he is the Messiah? Jesus answers John's question by pointing to his actions as sure signs that the reign of God has arrived – the blind see, the lame walk. These demonstrate that the power of God is at work. Jesus then makes a contrast between the dramatic presence of John and the 'least in the kingdom'. John stood out from the crowd in his attire, his strange way of life and in his powerful message. John is praised by Jesus as the greatest of the prophets and yet for all his greatness John had not perceived the reign of God in Jesus, he'd missed the signs. This is why the 'least in the kingdom' can be called greater than John. Those within the horizon of God's reign see and experience what John could only long for.

We belong to the group of those called 'the least'. We are living after the death and resurrection of Jesus and have this advantage over John. The reign of God has begun, the Spirit has been given, and we are now participants in God's reign. However, like John we can miss the miracle of God's presence. The signs are more delicate in our time, and in the busyness of our lives we may not even notice them. Like the people mentioned in the gospel, we may need to step aside, to 'go out into the wilderness' in order to see. Here, the message of the first reading offers great hope, for the wilderness will not be barren; risking quiet time alone will be fruitful. Advent invites us to be more perceptive, and to take time out to see the presence of God with us. The psalm today says, 'Look! Your God is coming to save you.' Look within your own life, your family, your workplace, your neighbourhood and recognise the sure signs of God's presence.

LIVING THE GOSPEL

Gaudete!

The third Sunday of Advent was traditionally known as Gaudete Sunday. The word, gaudete, (pronounced gow-day-tay) is from Latin and means Rejoice! The name was given to this Sunday because the entrance antiphon for the day is: Rejoice in the Lord always; again I say, rejoice! The Lord is near. When Advent was observed as a more penitential season, this third Sunday was a break from the sombre mood and was more celebratory. The rose-coloured candle in the Advent wreath and rose-coloured vestments convey a mood of joy and celebration.

Waiting

An Advent Meditation

I am everywoman and everyman.

In my loneliness,
I am waiting to be visited;
in my uncertainty,
I am waiting to be reassured;
in my happiness,
I am waiting for a deeper fulfilment;
in my soul, I am waiting to be wanted.

*Pray for me
and for yourself,
for we are all waiting.*

I am the Lord your God.
I have waited on you,
And have heard your prayer.

Now is the right time,
And I am coming soon.

So, prepare
a way in the desert,
a cradle in the hay,
a meeting place in the market place,
a table in an upstairs room,
a cross on a hill,
a throne in your heart as in heaven.

For now again,
I will bend down and remember you.

I will answer your prayer,
and your waiting will end in joy.

SPIRITUAL CONTEXT: JOHN THE BAPTIST

Jesus is not recorded as asking the messengers about John's wellbeing. He doesn't appear to express any concern about John's imprisonment. Yet Jesus must have felt this situation very deeply. John the Baptist and Jesus were related; they were cousins. The depth of his feeling is reflected when Jesus speaks so positively and powerfully about John. It reads almost as a eulogy that might be given at a funeral; praising the greatness of the deceased. Yet regardless of John's greatness, Jesus assures his audience that even the least in the kingdom is greater than John.
